Transformasjonssyklus

Medium: Acrylic paint

Artist Statement:

This piece of art is an exaggerated self portrait. I wanted to represent change and transformation, since that is what I've made a goal for myself this year. To strip myself down to the bone and be reborn as something beautiful, just as a caterpillar turns into a butterfly.

Description:

The artwork is both shadowy and bright. It has a very rugged, earthy feeling. It has a sense of morbidity, but also beauty, and grace. The motions of the body are fluid, representing the cycles of life that never stop, or change. The deep greens of the forest are both peaceful, yet give a sense of uncertainty. You never know what lies beyond.
