

What you see

Student: Moira McLaughlin
District: Cheney Public Schools
School: Cheney High School
Instructor: Jessa Morissey

What You See

Medium: Digital Photography

Artist Statement:

I am a photographer that loves to share my unique point of view on the world. I love that you can look at something you have seen hundreds of times and continue to find new ways or angles to photograph it. To me, photography is a way to experience places in a new way, meet new people and learn about new cultures. I am very inspired by my surroundings, which is evident in my photography. I see the beauty in everything around me, from the fluffy clouds hovering over me to a withered leaf that has run it's course through life. My photography is about finding the unique beautiful moments that are happening all around me.

Description:

I love finding new ways to photograph any object, in this photo I am investigating the way that light travels through a glass cube. The idea was to trick the mind into wondering if what you are looking at is real or an illusion. I have always liked the idea of figuring out how illusions work and how they can fool the eyes like they do.

Status: Sell