

An abstract artwork featuring a pixelated gradient. The top portion of the image shows a smooth, wavy transition from bright yellow and orange on the right to deep red and purple on the left. Below this, the background transitions into a solid, vibrant green that covers the rest of the page.

Little Windows

Student: Amelia Fairchild
District: East Valley School District
School: East Valley High School
Instructor: Stephanie Stewart

Little Windows

Medium: Acrylic paint

Artist Statement

Working through this piece, my initial idea for the outcome changed, from the simple concept of a sunset on water, to something with more meaning. It flowed and shifted based on what my eyes wanted to do. Using a pixelated style gradient to try to convey all the different perspectives of life, I wanted to make an image that caused the viewer to stop and take a moment to ponder, thus inspiring diverse reactions and a myriad of interpretations, just like life itself.

Description

An abstract pixelated gradient made up of squares and rectangles.

Status: Exhibit only