Artist Statement

This picture gave me hope. Hope that only a field of yellow tulips can bring. Washington's outdoor beauty and the serenity of this moment remind me that the world is bigger than all the chaos of the day to day. As a teenager going through the pandemic for most of my high school career, I have had to find moments that help me grasp onto the hope of tomorrow. These fields that go on and on give me a sense of hope. Washington is full of natural beauty and I am privileged to have been able to capture some of it in this photo.
