Artist Statement

This picture was taken on October 24th, 2021 in the downtown area of Spokane, Washington. I took this picture because I have always been interested in old or abandoned architecture, and I found this purely by coincidence. When I was walking downtown, I dropped my wallet over the edge and I noticed it dropped for quite a while. When I looked over the ledge I saw the stairs. Jumping the fence to get my wallet back, I found this whole abandoned bridge-looking structure, along with the stairs. After retrieving my wallet I thought that the stairs along with the clouds in the back looked almost angelic. The idea of broken and beaten stairs reaching the sky was so beautiful to me.
