Artist Statement

My work shows beauty in many different styles. Whether that be in a reflective surface, a portrait, using different lighting techniques, etc. I will try to incorporate it into my photography. The subject can be a person, an animal, or it can even be architecture. Everything is beautiful in its own way, and I really love capturing that in my work.

Description

It was a fairly sunny day that day and I really wanted that natural light to show details in the subject's face. I didn't want it to be a full-face portrait so I used a small mirror to reflect the subject's face while still having that natural light in the photo. I incorporated depth of field so that the back of the subject was out of focus and the mirror was in focus. I did this because I want your eyes to lead to the mirror rather than the back of the subject's head.
